

101 Creative Training Ideas

Many MORE than 101 ideas.

This book was prepared to help trainers and facilitators add more life, colour, energy and excitement to their training. It provides more than 101 concise, sharp strategies to enhance training. It will help fill the need for easily accessible, inexpensive and practical tips to help trainers at every level.

Not every idea in the book will be useful to every reader. Some may be impractical for the culture of your learning group or may not apply to a particular topic or learning process. Nevertheless, you can use the suggestions as stepping stones to better ideas of your own that will fit your unique circumstances. Adapt and modify the ideas to suit your own style.

Idea 92 – Create anticipation

Put up a chart in a visible place with a probing question about some piece of learning content and phrase the question in such a way that it creates a little curiosity or anticipation. Keep referring to it at appropriate times and when you finally reveal the answer, there will be a sense of relief and pleasure instead of it being 'just another bit of learning content'.
